by Paul Duncan

A E A E
I remember I cried when they told me, the day you had fallen asleep.

A E D
I walked home alone, feeling empty, plagued by bittersweet
E A E A
memories. I always called you my brother, though the difference
E A E was clear in our skin. For you and I shared the same Father, that's D E
how I know I'll see you again.

A E A D
I'll see you at home, wait on me, it won't be long
A E D
I'm still living in this foreign land and you're gone,
A E A
but I know I'll see you at home. (x2)

A E A E
I believe that life is not over when take our last human breath,
A E D E
For we belong to a Savior who died and killed the power of death.
A E A
Oh your voice, which was so weak and damaged, is now ringing
E A E
clear in the air, 'cause I know you're singing in heaven, D E
and I can't wait to sing with you there.
